LIFE OF A TIGER

The tiger can live in almost any natural environment from hot jungles to snowfields with subzero temperatures. A female tiger has her first cubs when she is less than four years old but half of these little tigers usually die before they are a year old. They kill their first small animals when they are about one year old and leave their mother a year later.

Tigers are good swimmers, can climb trees and eat 23 kilos of meat in a night. They can jump nearly nine metres, which is about the length of a double-decker bus.

Tigers communicate by many sounds , including a roar that can be heard over a lot of miles. Adult tigers usually live alone , but they are quite friendly with each other. They mostly hunt at night. They often meet while they are out hunting, rub heads together and then part.
