ENTRANCE TEST

1. Read the story and decide which phrase (A-J) below it fits into which gap. Write the letter of the phrase into the correct gap. There are TWO extra phrases.

One day, I was sitting out in the park when I noticed a cocoon on a tree close by. That very moment a butterfly was emerging from the cocoon. I watched the butterfly struggle to get out, but then 0 __J__ to get stuck.
As a minister, I have always been one to help others, so I reached up very, very carefully and began 1_____ to escape the small hole he had eaten in the cocoon. I laid it on the rock next to me and watched as the butterfly started to stretch its wings. I felt very happy about stumbling upon this miraculous scene and decided 2 _____ as the subject for my next sermon. I was greatly excited by this thought and before long, I had completed the speech.

That evening I was walking through the park again and stopped by the same rock. I saw the cocoon and, sure enough, the butterfly wasn't there. But then I noticed that it had fallen to the ground – 3 _____! Perhaps a bird or another insect had attacked it. I examined it and there didn't seem to be anything wrong with it, nevertheless it was dead. I was very upset, and went home to look in my encyclopaedias 4 _____ what had happened.

What I discovered was that it is the struggle that the butterfly makes by forcing its way out of its cocoon and eating its way through its own bonds that enables it 5 _____ strength to emerge whole and strong. The very action of fighting its way through the cocoon is what gives it the strength to fly.

The fact that I had tried to help 6 _____ out of its cocoon had only made matters worse. I had in fact limited the butterfly's ability and strength and the butterfly was unable to fly on its own. By helping too much, 7 _____ the butterfly out of its bonds, but in the process I had killed it. I began to realize that people, to become whole and complete, must not only be willing to get help but must also do the work themselves.

A – to use this story
B – by assisting the butterfly
C – and creating its strength
D – I had enabled
E – to gain enough
F – write about it
G – helping the butterfly
H – to try to determine
I – I was shocked
~~J – it seemed~~
